Games To-Day.
Portsmouth at Richmond.
Lynchburg at Roanoke.
Danville at Norfolk.

When the smoke of battle had rolled away from the ball field at Broad Street Park yesterday the banners of the Lawmakers flew proudly in the evening breeze and the stars of the Portsmouth Truckers were trailing low in the dust of defeat. It was the same old story re-enacted, Perry's boys had met the enemy and again they were his. So it came to pass that the Richmond rosters had much cause for joy and gladness, and deep in the hearts of the Truckers rankled the sorrow, sadness and bitterness of defeat.

"Dutch" Revelle, he of the iridescent, blinding, 16-candle power smile that would melt the hearts of the girls in the crowd, was the star of the game, when he unlimbered and sent ball after ball speeding over the pan it looked as if they were shot out of a rapid-fire Gatling gun, and behind them seemed to be a power like the heart of a steam locomotive.

Hamilton, with the exception of the fifth inning, when Richmond got six of her eight hits, was there with the goods. In no other inning could they do anything with his twisters, but in this one Perry and his bunch of heady, heavy-hitters, chased the game. Hamilton was sure on the job with the willow-wand, for he laced out three nice bingles out of four times up, and made the one and only run for the Truckers.

Little Lawrence, the Portsmouth plucky, played a great game at short, going after everything in reach. His catch of Titman's line drive over short in the fourth was a sensational piece of work, and his stop of Revelle's infield hit back of third in the fifth proved most commendable. When the Lawmaker manager was caught at the plate on his bold attempt to steal in home, he was applauded to the echo, and had to doff his sky-blue to the long-continued round of applause which greeted him. The Richmond fans are glad of an opportunity to show their appreciation of what Perry Lipé is doing to give them a winning team.

Notwithstanding the four errors the game was a pretty exhibition, for the players of both teams went after everything in the way of a battle. When the Lawmaker manager was caught at the plate on his bold attempt to steal in home, he was applauded to the echo, and had to doff his sky-blue to the long-continued round of applause which greeted him. The Richmond fans are glad of an opportunity to show their appreciation of what Perry Lipé is doing to give them a winning team.

Portsmouth's first chance for a score came in the first frame. Lawrence reached the initial sack on an error by Stinson, his only one here this season. Toner cut into the law, and Schrader plunked one down to Lipé, Lawrence going out at second. Billet walked, and Schrader ambled down to the second sack. Guileen reached first on Sandy's error, but he was out at second a moment later, when Sandy scooped up and passed on to Ison.

For the Colts nothing was doing until the fourth inning, when Jay Kanzler strolled down to the initial sack on four wide ones. Jay went to second on Stinson's ground ball to Guileen, and to the corner station on Sandy's nice one to the left garden territory. Things looked good for a score with Sandy on second and Jay hanging around the third stop.

Titman swatted one over short which looked good to everybody, but the little Lawrence shot up in the air like a suddenly released spring, and when he came down with the ball he doubled up on it, and to the corner station, and deserved the well-merited applause it provoked.

Then came the mighty, momentous fifth, when the mighty Hamilton's delivery for six safe bingles, which netted them three runs and the game. It happened this way: Ison stepped up and banged the ball in the solar plexus of some other knuck-out part of the sphere's anatomy, and when it was recovered he was safe on sack number one. Ison stepped up and banged the ball in the solar plexus of some other knuck-out part of the sphere's anatomy, and when it was recovered he was safe on sack number one.

Messitt, who wears the windup and muffle and officiates in the eighth inning, was called to the plate on a foul fly to Wadleigh. Revelle knocked a nice one back between short and third and Lawrence went after it with a vengeance, making a stop which was a beauty, but recovering himself too late to throw "Dutch of the smiles" out at first. This filled the bases, and the crowd was up on its toes with excitement. Then Lipé stepped up to the rubber and what he did for the sphere was a more than a plenty. He just lambasted the ball 'way down the right field corner, and it was a beauty, and at second, he had brought in three runners and the game was won. It was a beautiful hit at just the crucial moment of the game, and when it was made the crowd went wild with joy. Perry drew up at third.

Jay puffed second and Perry was caught coming in home on a pretty throw from Guileen to Wadleigh. Stinson then picked out a good bat and proceeded to try it on one of Hamilton's choicest twisters, with the result that another single was credited against the slab artist's delivery, but in attempting to reach home Jay Kanzler was caught and the side retired.

Portsmouth's one run came in the seventh on Hamilton's single. Lawrence's nice hit and an error by Sandherry.

NEW MEN FOR RALEIGH

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
RALEIGH, N. C., August 14.—The management of the Raleigh baseball team is striving to close the season next week with the very best final records possible, with the idea of making sure of reorganization for the next season, when it is hoped that the North Carolina League, embracing such towns as Wilmington, Raleigh, Durham, Greensboro, Winston-Salem and Charlotte, will be formed. With this end in view, Raleigh has engaged several of the strongest players of the Carolina League, which are to season yesterday. Two players from the Greensboro pennant-winning team arrived to-day to help "Pall" Raleigh out of a hole. They were Bertie M. Scherer and Soggeywell, outfielder. Others will probably come in to-morrow.

JAY KANZLER AGAIN BOBS UP SERENELY

After a day's truce from the heat of the column, Jay Kanzler bobs up serenely from below, and is now doing business at the old stand, where he is strictly on the job. There is always some special power behind the throne, and the motive power which placed the mighty Jay back in his old place of pomp and pride, of glory and honor, was applied yesterday morning in the shape of a large, bulky package, containing more than 7,000 ballots, properly marked for the said Kanzler.

Added to these 7,000 votes were divers and sundry other packages and the total of Jay's yesterday's vote is slightly more than 10,000. Now that is surely going it some for the Lawmaker. "Smiling Dutch" too, pulled a goodly number of ballots—about 6,000—which, added to his total previous tally, places him well up in the front rank.

Just think of it! The combined vote of the two leaders to-day stands at the handsome figure of more than a half-million. The figure of the other ten highest men reaches the remarkable figure of nearly one and a third millions.

This is how the standing of the players looks to-day:

Kanzler	261,208
Revelle	260,177
Doyle	237,100
Lipe	226,810
Titman	223,141
Hoffman	219,085

DARKNESS STOPS GAME IN NORFOLK SHAFERITES WIN BY CLOSE MARGIN

Tie Characterized by Dumb Play—ing for Crew and Errors—Contested Game from for Tobacconists.

NORFOLK, VA., August 14.—Norfolk and Danville battled for ten innings to-day without reaching a conclusion, the final score being 5 to 5. Walker, who started in to pitch for Danville, was unsteady, being hit freely. Norfolk soon had the game seemingly cinched, but for some reason or other, and allowed the score to be tied up. A Fox Stafford immediately pulled Walker out and substituted Walsh, who proved a puzzle to the home team. The game Danville and plays by the Crew that showed lack of judgment. Setz started in the field, and Russell and Stafford at the bat.

PITTSBURGH PURCHASES SLAB ARTIST VAIL

Bobby Vail, the star slab artist of the track and a member of the Pittsburgh club, has been sold to the Pittsburgh club of the National League. The purchase price is said to be $1,500, and the pitcher is to report to the major league team on September 1st.

Vail at one time wore a Richmond uniform, but he, together with Clark, was traded to Portsmouth for Dutch Revelle. So far this year Vail has pitched wonderful ball, holding the strike-out record of the league, and was the star pitcher for the reason that he has been working for a losing team.

Portsmouth loses a good man when they get a good twirler for their pitching staff.
